South Jersey Flying Circus Report

Saturday, although the forecast was for showers during the day, all we received was a very short light sprinkle in the early afternoon. A healthy amount of flying was performed before the thunderstorm, that was called for after 3pm, showed up early at 2. We all hunkered down waited, however the storm last awhile.

The break in the rain happened around 4 giving us time to load and git.

Sunday morning found us grounded until 10:30 due to the fog. Come 11 am or so the field became a Free Flyter's dream. Blue skies with light thermals and calm winds. It was so perfect that even I flew one of my old-time SAM large rubber sticks.

Well! I am going to call it done at this point.

It was a great contest with 13 Flyers, who all seemed to have a great time. And that is my goal for these contests. Everyone having fun!
